

The background of the image is a vibrant, multi-colored spectrum of light rays. These rays originate from a single point on the left edge and fan out towards the right, creating a sense of depth and movement. The colors transition through a rainbow spectrum, starting with deep purple and blue on the left, moving through green, yellow, and orange, and ending with red and magenta on the right. The rays have a soft, ethereal quality, with some appearing more saturated than others.
